ELEARNING MODULES FOR ORIENTATION

There are four eLearning courses that you are required to complete prior to attending the in-person orientation. The information in these eLearning modules is also available in a document format should you be unable to access the eLearning from a computer. The best browsers for viewing these modules are: Internet Explorer 9 (or more recent), Safari 5.1 (or more recent) and Google Chrome 17 (or more recent).

At the in-person orientation, you will be asked to confirm that you have completed the following four modules. Completion of these modules is important to ensure that your experience as a volunteer at KGH is safe, secure and enjoyable. You can take your time to complete these, but please complete a module once you start it. Click on any of the links below to begin.

Volunteer Orientation eLearning module : This course provides you with important information about the Hospital and your role as a volunteer.

Integrated Accessibility Standards Regulation : In this course you'll explore the reasons why we make KGH an accessible workplace for ourselves and the people we support.

Communications Training : Communications training is the focus of the learning in this module, where you'll be introduced to our nine expected behaviours.

Hand Hygiene Training : This brief course will provide you with the crucial fundamentals for hand hygiene. This course supports a KGH Quality Improvement Initiative.
