Introduction

As we embark on the process of creating our first strategy for the future of KHSC, we must first define who we are as a health sciences centre. As the foundation of our strategy, it is important that we craft a mission, vision and set of values that articulates the common purpose of everyone who works, learns, volunteers, partners with and receives care here at KHSC. During the fall we started this conversation with the KHSC community to hear their thoughts about what our mission, vision and values should look like. This document provides a summary of what they said and the key concepts based on the emerging themes from our engagement.

Mission

A mission statement is a declaration of an organization's purpose and describes why we do what we do. This is a foundational statement that explains who we are and why we exist, and generally transcends organizational changes in what we do because it's about 'why', not 'what' or 'how'. The mission helps to guide day-to-day activities and acts as a foundation for decision making and can help to inspire the community, particularly those within the organization.

Where we're coming from

While we have committed to preserving the HDH and KGH hospital site missions and cultures, this is our opportunity to consider what the overarching mission of KHSC should be. The questions that follow ask you to consider what KHSC's purpose is, and what should be in our mission.

Legacy mission statements

Hotel Dieu site: The mission of Hotel Dieu Hospital in Kingston, rooted in the Gospel of Jesus Christ, is to make visible the compassionate healing presence of God to all persons. We share in this Mission by being a caring and just community. This is expressed through the pursuit of excellence in health service, education and research.

KGH site: We are a community of people dedicated to transforming the patient and family experience through innovative and collaborative approaches to care, knowledge and leadership.

Themes from engagement

Question: KHSC provides high quality care, research and teaching. Why is important? What drives us to do this work? Are there key words, concepts, statements that are so important that we should include them in KHSC's mission statement?

Values

Values are deeply held convictions that guide our actions, behaviours and interactions. An effective set of values clearly delineate the principles of an organization and how we want to behave and interact with patients, families and each other. Just as values guide us in our family lives, organizational values help us to adhere to agreed principles of behaviour that feel right to all of us.

Vision

A vision statement provides a picture of what the organization will look like in five to ten years. The vision outlines a desired state and describes where we want to go. This should be a stretch statement, bold or “lofty goal” that inspires everyone who works, learns, volunteers, partners with and receives care at KHSC to help shape our future.

Themes from engagement

Question: What do we aspire to be as a health sciences centre? What do you want the most impressive ‘tweets’ and ‘hash-tags’ to say about KHSC in the next five to ten years?
